When a professional golfer is at the top of their game having won many major titles, they don't stop practicing and retire to the club house. To achieve and maintain excellence, perseverance is mandatory. Perseverance applies - whether thinking about recovery or your professional legacy. With recovery, personal inventories are checked and there is a daily focus on sobriety. And in business, despite any obstacles, we at Santé stay focused on our vision and mission for providing long-term recovery. In either arena, one cannot get too comfortable or take sobriety or success for granted; excellence takes perseverance, one day at a time. Circumstances can rapidly change, but if one continues to persevere each day, long-recovery and mission achievement will continue to prevail.

Perseverance in Life

Michelle Morgan, LVN
Nurse
2 Years at Santé Center for Healing

I grew-up with an abusive, alcoholic father. Over the years, I watched many family members go in and out of treatment for drugs, alcohol and mental health. After I discovered my own path of co-dependency and addictive behaviors, I pushed myself to seek out where to fit into this existence I called "my life." Read More

Continuum of Care: Aftercare/Alumni Support

Brian Simpson, LCDC Intern

Aftercare and Alumni Coordinator
5 Years at Santé Center for Healing

Brian Simpson, LCDC-Intern, received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Anthropology at the University of North Texas. He is Santé's Certified Ropes Instructor and feels a sense of pride and purpose working in the addiction field. Brian acts as a liaison for our alumni and creates individualized aftercare plans for each residential client as they prepare to discharge. Recovery is not something that is completed upon leaving our treatment program; it is a process of learning and personal growth.
