Knowing When to Speak

"Good judgement, a careful sense of timing, courage, and prudence - these are the qualities we shall need when we take Step Nine. After we have made the list of people we have harmed, have reflected carefully upon each instance, and have tried to possess ourselves of the right attitude in which to proceed, we will see that the making of direct amends divides those we should approach into several classes. There will be those who ought to be dealt with just as soon as we become reasonably confident that we can maintain our sobriety. There will be those to whom we can make only partial restitution, lest complete disclosures do them or others more harm than good. There will be other cases where action ought to be deferred, and still others in which by the very nature of the situation we shall never be able to make direct personal contact at all."

-Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions, p. 83

"Step Nine is about an addict making amends to those they have hurt. It is difficult to know when or how to right our wrongs from those we love and whether it will benefit or hurt them. It takes discipline and guidance from a sponsor to know when to make these amends, to whom you should make amends with, and how much you should disclose when doing so. This step can cause anxiety and stress for many addicts. The one you are making amends with may not always be receptive or ready to have the wrong corrected. Reaching out to a sponsor or mentor is a must in these situations. It takes courage to open yourself up to others."

Co-Dependency Intensive Workshop October 21-24, 2019*

Free To Be Me: Rescuing Yourself From Co-dependency is a 4-Day Therapy Intensive Workshop that works with individuals who are struggling in their personal and/or professional relationships. Co-dependence is often associating with investing and focusing one's time and energy into everything and everyone else. However, simply defined, co-dependence is a lack of a relationship with oneself.

Quotes from recent Co-Dependency Intensive Workshop attendees:

"Bless you Lisa, this workshop has changed my life. Spread this to as many as you can!!!!"

"This workshop is life changing. It opened my eyes and gave me tools to see my dysfunctional habits and behaviors in a new way plus steps for creating new behaviors."

"If you feel you have any degree of co-dependency in your life take this course. Very informative. Very eye opening. Very helpful."

For more information to see if this co-dependency workshop is right for you, contact Lisa King, MS, NCC, LPC-Intern.

College Scholarships

Three Collegiate Scholarships Offered by Santé Center for Healing

Part of Santé's legacy includes providing therapeutic expertise for those in need of addiction treatment by: serving as a teaching facility for masters level student clinicians pursuing the mental and behavioral health field; and providing established and tenured clinicians throughout the community with education, awareness, tools and CEUs towards their credentials and important work.

Due to the importance Santé places on therapeutic expertise and in recognition of three of Santé's legacy makers – co-founder Rip Corley, co-founder/co-owner Deb Corley and CEO Dennis Wade, we extend three financial collegiate scholarships to students wishing to further and advance their education.
